

Janice H. Kurth, M.D., Ph.D.

Philanthropist and Community Volunteer

Janice earned her B.A. in chemistry from Austin College, Ph.D. in human genetics from Stanford University, and M.D. from University of Arizona, with post-graduate training in internal medicine. Her professional career has included medical practice, academic and industrial biomedical research, product and software development, research management and pharmaceutical medicine. She is now retired to a busy life of service to her community and family.

Her extensive community involvement includes Rotary International (District 5340 Governor, 2015-2016), The San Diego Women's Foundation (Board Member), Mira Costa Community College Foundation (Board Member), public school foundations, The San Diego Immunization Coalition, student mentoring and more. She has led and participated in numerous humanitarian projects locally and internationally over the past 15 years.

She has been married to her husband Matt for 34 years. They have two daughters, ages 30 and 32 years. In her free time, Janice enjoys running, weight lifting, traveling, reading, hiking, biking, and wine tasting.